New York Youth's Marvelous Vitality

With His Body Severed At the Abdomen.

York, Dec. 18.—With his body cut by a railroad train according to fifteen witnesses who saw him, Greenberg, eighteen years old and strong and healthy, lived long after his body was severed at the waist. He was found lying on the ground, his head and arms still attached to his body, but his legs and torso were missing. He was taken to the hospital and lived for several days before dying.

on the train which arrived at different minutes before 9 o'clock. The train was stopped at the station and the body was removed. The witnesses were all from the neighborhood and were all of the same opinion.

FINE MEN MADE FRIENDS

Fine Manly Speech at Ward 8 Meeting.

Will Be Holding Meetings Nearly Every Evening.

The regular meeting of the Ward 8 Improvement Society was held last night in Gospel Hall, and, despite the split, there was a fairly large attendance.

The meeting was late in getting started, and by the time the members had voiced their various grievances it was almost 10 o'clock before the different candidates for municipal offices had a chance to speak.

After the minutes of the last meeting had been read and accepted, a lengthy discussion arose in connection with the nomination of candidates for the society for the majority chair, and Board of Control. It was moved and seconded that no representative for the society be endorsed. Secretary Boyd then arose and moved an amendment to the effect that no candidate be endorsed for Mayor and four for the Board of Control.

That is not an amendment to the motion; that's a motion in opposition to the one just brought up," shouted a member in the back of the hall.

A long discussion followed and it was decided to let Mr. Boyd stand down and after considerable wrangling the chairman announced that a standing order be taken.

Ward 8 Improvement Society is not satisfied with the Council that is in power and will hold a meeting to elect a new one.

The vote was then taken and it resulted in favor of the motion not to endorse any candidate for either the majority or the Board of Control.

Of the members reading a clipping out of the Spectator, which he said was incorrect. The members were quite riled by the mistake made, but it was decided to give the paper a chance to make a correction.

Chairman Hendrick then brought up the question of getting the Council to change the by-law which reads that all coal must be weighed at the city scales. He stated that as there were people in that district who bought coal in small quantities at a time was very inconvenient for them to have it weighed. He wanted a committee appointed to interview the City Council with a view of having them change the by-law so that it would provide "quantities of coal not over 200 pounds need not be weighed at the city scales."

He then suggested that all coal delivered should carry scales when they sold in bags of 100 pounds, as was the case in England.

"That is not the rule in England," said Secretary Boyd.

"I don't know anything about the English rules; you're from Scotland," answered the man.

"I don't see how you got any money to be at it," was the reply.

"The society is for the good of the ward, therefore no gambling shall be allowed," said Chairman Hendrick.

The matter was laid over until after the next meeting.

E. R. S. Moriah stated that the by-law regarding the removal of nightsoil was not lived up to. He had written to the Board of Health about the matter, but had been advised that the Board had nothing to do with it. He then wrote to the Mayor, giving the officials of the Board of Health the matter.

Reed by way of the electric system. Everything has opportunity, it is bound to have, just as the old wooden bridge up in the County Jail, which is to be replaced by the old wooden structure with concrete and steel. The new bridge is made of concrete, instead of wood. At first it was all opposition, but it was finally carried over by the city engineer's plan. I have taken a great deal of interest in the doing of the present Council, and there seems to be a fire lack of initiative in the whole Council, generally, and the city men who are not afraid to voice their opinions on the different subjects and have a little courage in their own minds. There are a number of important recommendations coming up before next year's Council, and the people want men to represent them whom they can depend upon to be consistent in their action, and men who will stand up for the rights of the people. The Street Railway Company has to be watched and the enormous tax that is being put on now has got to be reduced. Every property is going up full value and the city assessments are being made.

Mr. Finlayson, chairman of the meeting for their kind attention, and asking them to judge him by his record in the City Council. The chairman then asked Mr. Finlayson to read the list of names for the election of the Board of Control. He wished to bring some questions down to the Council, but he left him in his place.

Ald. Lalonde took the platform for the councilmen and the city engineer. The C. N. R. would not get the proposed right of way through the heart of the city. He said he hoped the city would have some men in the city at the present time.

"I am not in favor of giving anything to the street railway," said he, "and the Council must be careful in regard to the Street Railway Company's request."

"I would not give them anything except the right of way," said he, "and the Council must be careful in regard to the Street Railway Company's request."
